Whether it's being about to tighten your belt buckle, drop a dress size (or two), tone up your body, or run take on a fitness challenge – our mission is to assist and empower you to success.

We've seen it before too.....fitness facilities that are happy to take your money and simply leave you to do all the hard work. No guidance, no responsibility, no inspiration.....all leads to no results. Why would you pay for something and not get a result? It doesn't make sense and that is not what we are about. Our goal is to help you.

So this is our promise to you:

"If you commit to one of our training programs and agree to follow our guidance 100%, not 'almost' but every single thing, and yet you still fail to achieve your goal within the time agreed then we'll happily give you back your investment with us AND continue to train you for free until the goal is reached"

At Exclusively You, we believe we can help. In fact, we guarantee we can help. And we'll put our money where our mouth is. We challenge you to call around and see if other players in our industry will do the same. Those large chains with huge amounts of money to spend....will they put their billions of dollars where their mouth is?

There is no risk attached to this. At worst, you will end up exactly where you are and with no money lost. At best, you could be the person that you only dream of right now.

There is no catch. We want to help you. That's why we became health and fitness coaches in the first place.
